DEBTRESOLVE TAPS COLLECTIONS PRO FOR SALES FORCE

Roxanne Bartley Joins Online Provider

September 1, 2005 (White Plains, NY) Debt Resolve, Inc., the first company to provide online consumer debt resolution and settlement, today announced the hiring of Roxanne Bartley as Vice President, Sales.

Ms. Bartley has ten years of experience in the collection industry, having represented two national collection agencies, Harris & Harris Ltd. and KCA Financial Services, Inc. In those positions she worked closely with credit grantors in multiple vertical markets to identify opportunities for improving outsourced recoveries. After many years of playing competitive soccer, she now satisfies her competitive spirit with golf.

Ms. Bartley can be reached at rbartley@debtresolve.com.

James Mahoney, the company's Senior Vice President and Director of Sales, commented: "With DebtResolve's rapid growth and the acceptance of our product suite by collections clients, we wanted to expand our sales team with highly respected sales professionals. We could not have done better than attracting Roxanne, who understands the value of our products for our clients. We are delighted to welcome her to the team."

About DebtResolve:

DebtResolve was the first company to provide lenders, collection agencies, debt buyers and utilities a suite of online products for the collection of consumer debt, bringing more to the bottom line through lower costs and higher recoveries. At the heart of the DebtResolve system is a patented bidding engine. DebtResolve's ASP model was developed by experts in internet technologies and the collection industry, and is simple to set up and use. The company is headquartered in White Plains, New York.
